Frank confessed a hope in Christ as his Savior at an early age and was baptized into the Zion Baptist Church, Georgetown, KY where he remained a faithful member until his passing. At Zion, he served as a Deacon, Treasurer and was also a member of the Men's Choir.

Frank told the story of how he had intended on going to college, after completing high school, to study to be a dentist. When he could not get into Kentucky State University because the veterans were getting out of the service, he worked at a tobacco factory for that winter. His brother had been working at Jonabell, a race horse farm and got him a job there. He worked there as a Groom for over 55 years before retiring. In addition, his dedication to the horse industry led him to work at other horse farms in Kentucky; at Keeneland and Fasig Tipton during the horse sales, at Bob Mickler's Equestrian Apparel, along with traveling to Columbus, OH and Saratoga, NY to care for horses. He was proud to say that he helped "break" the first American horse to win the English Derby.

An avid sports fan, he was particularly interested in the Kentucky Wildcats and the Cincinnati Reds.

“ Frank was a very nice man. He drove Papas car with all the younger family members and me. Plus his mom and Dad plus my mom and granny. Only the Lord knows how we all got in the car. They were my second family. I was at Zion Baptist many years with frank and Sue. He will be missed but God knew it was his time. I realize he was ready for his call. Rest on my friend I will see you in the morning.
