“ To the family of James Langston Taylor, I have what I believe is his remains in a beautiful marble urn. Not sure how they got displaced but if you are interested in having them returned you can reach me through Messenger. My name is Jeannie Jones and I live here in Lexington Kentucky. The picture to my profile is if my Dad using his Walker as he is walking with my son. My Dad has on a grey jacket and my son is read headed. I have never posted anything on my page but that's my profile. And in case there are two profiles with the same picture use the one that has friends attached to it. I messed up the first one and made another profile using the same picture. I'm also currently staying at the Bluegrass Extended Stay motel, Room 213 until my apartment gets finished being remodeled. I hope this helps and I know if it was my parents I would do anything to get their remains back.

Happy Holidays
