

Jessie Mae McDowell

January 14, 1944 - October 27, 2020

Jessie Mae McDowell, 76, was born in Lancaster, Kentucky on January 14, 1944. She departed this life on October 27, 2020. She was the second of seven children born to the late Minnie Frances Wilkinson and John Diggs.

She was preceded in death by three sisters: Juanita Fluker, Ella Williams, and Vernia Fisher. She is survived by her four children: Sharon Wheat (Lynn Thomas), Sharona Moore (John Russell Jr.), Quentin (Angie) Moore, and LaRoy (Allen) Moore. She is also survived by two sisters: Mary Griffin, Marie Robertson; one brother: William (Gwen) Diggs; and one step-brother: Jimmy Graves. She leaves behind to cherish her memory, seven loving Grandchildren, nine Great-Grandchildren, and one Great-Great-Grandchild.

Jessie accepted Christ at a young age. She attended Kingdom Word Fellowship with her family. She dedicated her life to serving others. For over 40 years, Jessie served as a bus driver for Fayette County Public Schools, Lextran, and Jessamine County Public Schools. She was also known for her culinary skills and received many requests for baked goods. Folks would come from miles around to get homemade yeast rolls, jam cakes, and other delicious dishes. She was a kind, caring, unselfish woman who never met a stranger and always put others before herself.

She was blessed with a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and special friends as well as many others, who are too numerous to name, but know the special place they held in her heart.
