

Louis Curtis Jones

May 5, 1964 - April 12, 2024

Louis Curtis Jones, son of Mrs. Ophelia Jones and the late Russell Jones Sr., was born on May 5, 1964, in Lexington, Kentucky. On April 12, 2024, Louis was called by the Lord and departed life on Earth to take his final rest with our Lord and Savior. Louis graduated from Bryan Station High School in Lexington, Kentucky. He joined Uttingertown Baptist Church at a young age. Louis worked at Clarkland Farms for many years and resided with his son, Louis Jr. He loved lawn services and landscaping while helping others. He and his team helped restore Coleman Crest Farm on Royster Road, Kentucky's first African American-owned USDA-certified produce farm. Louis was a familiar face and never met a stranger. Some knew him by "Big Lou" and "Louie Louie". His pride and joy was his son, Louis Christopher Jones Jr. He was a devoted father and a father figure to his nephews. He had one granddaughter, Angel Jones. Louis left Earth with many dear lifelong friends, including William Mason Jr., and his family will forever love him and remember his humorous stories.

He was preceded in death by his father, Russell Jones Sr; brother, Howard Coleman Jones; sister,

Margaret Louise Clay; maternal grandparents, Louis (Margaret) Madison Clay; paternal grandparents, Howard (Hazel) Jones; aunts: Christine Hamilton; Lenora Winslow, Evelyn Jones

uncles: Coleman Jones, JT, Nelson, and Allen Clay.

Left cherishing his memory are his mother, Ophelia Jones, and son, Louis C. Jones Jr.; four sisters, Anna Shaw, Lillian, Martha, and Virginia Jones; two brothers, Russell Jones Jr. and

Donald (Debra) Lee Ragland; his aunt, Virginia (Don) E. Jenkins, Patricia and Josephine Clay; and his many nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends.
